

CALL FOR PAPER

SAARC Journal of Social Science: is a double-blind peer reviewed bi-annual journal of the theoretical and applied areas in Social Sciences.

SJSS provides a unique forum for theoretical debates and empirical analyses that move away from narrow disciplinary focus. It is committed to comparative research and articles that speak to cases beyond the traditional concerns of area and single-country studies. SJSS strongly encourages trans disciplinary analysis of contemporary and historical social change in Asia by offering a meeting space for international scholars across the social sciences, including sociology, anthropology, cultural studies, economics, geography, history, political science, and psychology. SJSS publishes peer-reviewed research articles, special thematic issues, and shorter symposiums. SJSS also publishes book reviews, research notes, and short essays on South Asia societies.
